From our San Francisco Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18th, 1860.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:—Since I last wrote, there has been an intense political excitement in the State; I allude to the acts necessary to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Mr. Broderick. The Senate met, and there were a number of candidates. Weller, Baldwin, Washington, McDougall, &c., &c. Two or three ballots were taken in caucus, and Weller seemed to be "walking up," having a greater number of votes than any other candidate; but not a majority of the Senate. It appeared pretty doubtful who would be elected, and many of the people of San Francisco thought that they would throw out Weller and elect Inge. What a surprise then for the people was it, when, on taking up the morning paper, they saw that the Democratic caucus, which had the majority in the State, had carried a vote in favor of Latham, the new Governor, who had but lately taken his seat. The next day the Bulletin published his election in joint convention. Thus has this young man, being about 35 or 40, step by step gained his present position. The next step is the Presidency. Of course, as soon as the matter was decided, lots of people "knew it would be so," "just as I thought," and "didn't I tell you," "were familiar in their mouths as household words." (I beg Mr. Shakespeare's pardon, if it should be a degradation. I make this apology, pregnant as it is with information, as the Victoria Gazette will probably astound its readers [!] with the wonderful news that these words are taken from Shakespeare.) Mr. Latham is to resign his position as Governor immediately, and will start on the 5th of February for Washington.

MODEL CALIFORNIA GOLD MINE.

A model "California Gold Mine" has been for the last few days on exhibition in this city. It shows all the different kinds of mining in the State, from the primitive pan and rocker, to the more elaborate tunneling and quartz mining. One can see the sluices filled with water, and little figures, some picking and others shoveling into the sluice boxes. Men with their India rubber hose, from the spout of which a stream of water shoots with force, present a view of hydraulic mining, while the quartz vein, the tunnel, the men working therein, the steam engine for stamping the quartz, the buckets going up and down, the horses at common quartz mills, &c., &c., are all presented with life-like accuracy. In the figures that perform these different labors, all tending to one object, one can perceive the national peculiarities of those who compose the California Mining population. Engaged in pan labor a Negro is represented; engaged in rocking are a company of Chinese; and in those labors requiring greater skill, energy and capital, the Anglo-Saxon race predominates. The whole of these numerous figures move by means of machinery, and cause merriment at the same time that they afford instruction.

Attached to the "Show," which the proprietor describes by means of his nose as an avenue of sound, and a long stick, is a model of a quartz mill. This admirable specimen of mechanism is worked by means of a very small steam engine; it has five "batteries," made of brass, and all the modern improvements. The proprietor describes the improvements, but declines to give his opinion as to their adaptability. On the whole it is worth seeing, and the price is "two bits."

STEAMER FORWOOD.

The steamer Forwood is still under

"Lock" and key in this harbor, and will remain so perhaps; although I have received some information which would lead me to believe that she will start for some of the South American ports "immediately, if not sooner." Victoria or the Hudson Bay Company should buy her to carry up the mails, &c.; they may, if they have money enough. I hope they will thank me for the information and consent hereby conveyed.

BRIBERY.

I notice by this evening's paper, that G. L. Fellows, M. P., who got his seat in the Canadian Parliament by bribing the returning officer, and copying into the poll book about three hundred voters, whose names were taken from a directory of Troy, N. Y., has, in addition to being compelled to pay the sum of £500, been sentenced to suffer six months imprisonment, and has been deprived of his gown as barrister, and degraded from his position as Queen's Counsel. Is not bribery punished in Canada? Who will dare to raise his voice against the justice of such a punishment? Yet who will be deterred by this example, from using bribery as a means for obtaining a seat, even if that seat be in the Legislature of Vancouver Island? DELTA.

The Opera as Viewed by one who has no Taste for the Fine Arts.

"Gail Hamilton," the sprightly letter writer of the National Era, gives the following clever "take off" on the New York opera:

"I heard a good deal of the Academy of Music. The Academy of Music is not a theatre. I never went to either but once in my life, and I don't exactly understand the difference between them; only, in a theatre you do catch a word here and there, and in the Academy of Music you don't; in the theatre a big drum is played on a little while at once, in the Academy of Music it went banging all the time; but there is a great difference between them—if you can find it out. The building itself was a marvel of white paint, and red cloth, and gilding, with semi-circular graded tiers of seats, and astonishing little Cupids without any clothes on, stuck into every possible nook and corner, and three or four rows of galleries, and the brightest of gas; and there were a great many women who thought they looked very pretty, and did; and a great many more who thought they did and didn't; and some wore bonnets and some with anything but bonnets, and many Germans and Americans with hair on their lips, and occasionally on their heads and white kid gloves on their hands, fluttered about here and there, and seemed to be trying to make themselves agreeable; and perhaps they did I don't know, and after a while a man down by the stage whisked his stick, and the big drum struck up, and the curtain rose, and there was a wood, and twenty or thirty men marched into it, and none of their stockings came up to their knees, and none of their frocks came down, and not a trouser among the whole company, and everything they said was in Italian, and they did not say anything at all but sing it, and they flourished a little while and then went off, and a couple of women came on dressed in some outlandish costume, and one seemed to be in great distress, and the other, with an arm like a sledge-hammer, was continually picking her up when she fainted, which was no easy matter, for she kept up a steady fainting and hopping all the time, and chattering like a magpie in all the intervals; and then a man came, and then the sledge-hammer went off, and the collapsor bounced into the man's arms, and then they rebounded and back again, like the pitch balls in electric experiments, till that scene was over; and then thirty or forty men and women came on, and one was supposed to be a prince, and he wore white embroidered pantaloons a great deal too short, and "ankle tie" shoes, and a light blue thing where his coat ought to have been, that looked like a yoke night gown with the skirt cut off, and he wanted to marry the fainting woman, and she did not want to marry him, and her old hunchbacked father or somebody said she should; and she would not, and swore dreadfully, and he yelled, and they all yelled, and she fainted harder than ever, and they got into a terrible "muss," as the New Yorkers would say, and I don't know whether they ever got out of it, for I left them there."

IMPROVEMENT IN SHIP'S BOATS.—Lieut. Hon. or Davidson, U. S. Navy, has obtained a patent for an apparatus by which a ship's boat, with its crew, can be lowered at sea by only one man, with perfect ease and safety, without danger of swamping, however stormy the weather or dark the night. Lieut. Davidson invented the apparatus during a recent cruise of the U. S. sloop-of-war Dale off the coast of Africa. The Secretary of War has ordered the apparatus for the U. S. practice ship Plymouth, at Annapolis; and it is now being constructed at the Washington Navy Yard. The cost is trifling.

Address to the Lord Bishop of Columbia.

The Address to the Bishop of Columbia, which has been in the course of signature during the last week, was presented to his Lordship on Monday forenoon. The deputation appointed by the Committee of management met at Mr. Pemberton's office at eleven o'clock, and proceeded to the Bishop's residence in Fort Street. Several members of the deputation were unavoidably absent. The following gentlemen attended:

Rev. E. Cridge, Chief Justice Begbie, Mr. Wood, Mr. Frazer, Mr. W. J. McDonald, Mr. Crease, Capt. Gordon, Capt. Gossett, Rev. Dr. Evans, Mr. Southgate, Mr. Cusheon, Mr. Finlayson, Mr. Munro, Mr. Gibbs, Mr. Gambitz, Mr. Little, Mr. W. B. Smith, Mr. McInnis.

The deputation was received by the Bishop, and the Rev. E. Cridge read the address, which was as follows:

TO THE RIGHT REVEREND GEORGE HILLES,
D. D. LORD BISHOP OF COLUMBIA.

The Address of the Clergy, Churchwardens, Members of the Church of England, and other Inhabitants of Vancouver Island:

We, the undersigned inhabitants of Vancouver Island, beg to approach your Lordship with the assurance of our heartfelt sympathy for the mission which has brought you to this portion of your diocese, and tender you our hearty congratulations upon your safe arrival.

The great public interest in the spiritual affairs of this and the Sister Colony, which your Lordship's advocacy was so largely instrumental in awakening throughout the mother country, merits our warmest acknowledgements: for, while it ensures the active co-operation of our fellow-countrymen in all that promotes the best interests of religion among us, it cannot fail to advance the material prosperity of these Colonies.

Had an earnest been wanting for the hopes which we entertain of your future career, we have happily, only to revert to your successful labors elsewhere, to feel every confidence that the zeal and ability which have hitherto directed you, will, under Heaven, be attended here with similar results.

Your Lordship's prompt declaration, so soon after your arrival, that you had sufficient confidence in the vitality of the religion we profess, to entrust the Church to the voluntary support of its members, has been received with much satisfaction; it gives a great stimulus to individual exertion in the cause of religion, and ensures the devoted co-operation of the laity.

It is with peculiar pleasure we learn your Lordship's intentions to direct your experience and knowledge to the formation and maintenance of Schools for the education of the rising generation—a benefit, which we are rejoiced to find will be extended to the Indian race.

We cannot conclude this address without expressing our heart-felt thanks to that Christian Lady, who, by the endowment of a Bishopric in these distant Colonies, has testified her generous interest in those who have wandered so far from their native land.

Hoping that it may please the Almighty to spare you to fulfil your important and arduous mission, and that you may find it consistent with the effective discharge of your ministrations, to be much among us, and wishing you health and happiness, we remain your Lordship's faithful and very obedient servants:—

The signatures amounted to about 800 in number representing every class of the community. The address having been read was placed in the Bishop's hands, who proceeded to make the following reply:

GENTLEMEN:—I beg to thank you sincerely for this address, and for the kind welcome you have given me.

Your allusion to my safe arrival leads me to express before you my deep and grateful sense of the mercy of God, that was I preserved from the sad fate of those who perished in the Northern, by which vessel I had intended to come. The delay in my departure from England was occasioned by my desire to give such information as I could respecting these Colonies. A wide-spread interest is the consequence, and I am glad my humble efforts have met with your approval.

Your expression of sympathy in my mission encourages me to believe there will not be wanting an active support of all that is really beneficial and elevating in a Christian community.

There will be many objects in which we may all unite and happily labor for the common good, and for the glory of God.

As a minister of the Church of England, I cannot expect the agreement of all, and must look to those principally who belong to that time-honored and greatly blessed portion of the Church Catholic, for the support of our own institution.

When we remember the early planting of the Church in Britain, her part in the reformation of Christendom; her encouragement of the free circulation of the Scriptures; her preservation in many a storm, and her recent progress:—and believing in the promise of perpetuity vouchsafed to His Church by the Divine Head, we accept without fear the circumstances of any land to which we may be called, and with confidence can entrust the Church to the willing support of her faithful laity. From the State we seek no exclusive privileges—we ask only for liberty, a fair field and no favor.

We desire humbly and lovingly to labor that the principles of the doctrine of Christ, may be established in the hearts of many by the manifold and felt blessings of the power of the Gospel; and in openness and honesty avowing those distinctive principles, which, as Christians we profess and revere as the truth in Jesus, with all charity, we are sure we shall have the respect, at least, of all fair minded and generous men.

I rejoice to feel my future life is bound up in these two colonies which form the Diocese of British Columbia, and I trust I may never be wanting in any humble exertion I can render, for their natural as well as spiritual prosperity.

No inconsiderable part of my time must be occupied in this important Island, yet the chief part of my attention will necessarily be required in the neighboring colony, where distances are so much greater the population stations, and clergy likely to be more numerous and the peculiar circumstances of the gold regions, requiring more personal visitation.

Thanking you once more for the kindness and honor you have shown me and trusting we may have many opportunities in days to come of conferring together as friends and brethren, I desire to express my earnest prayer that God may bless you abundantly with his choicest gifts.

I remain, gentlemen, your faithful friend and servant.

GEORGE COLUMBIA.

The deputation then withdrew.

A copy of the Address and of the Bishop's reply was forwarded to England by the mail steamer in the afternoon.

British Columbian Trails.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:—I shall feel obliged if you would give a place in your columns to a few strictures on a letter which appeared in the Victoria Gazette and is reprinted in the N. W. Times.

The semi-official character which it aspires to, is rather pointed and misleading "myself and my friend our Judge." Mr. Elwyn, from all I have heard, is a man of education, integrity and ability, and were he asked to "write his opinions," I believe he would do so as correctly, both in style and matter, as "Featherstone." In fact, he bears, amongst all the miners I have met, as well as amongst others personally acquainted with him, a high character for truthfulness and gentlemanly bearing. I think it requisite to say this, because, though entirely unknown to me, Mr. Elwyn ought to be "saved from his friends," when they follow a high example in Vancouver Island, allowing the "own correspondent," whose facts and views ought to be broad and true, to sink into the subordinate office of a mere special pleader in favor of acres, dry goods, or trails—it matters not which. The leading idea, as far as I can get at it, is "The Douglas Trail and Cayoosh the city of the Upper Country." I hope both may go ahead in all sincerity. We shall have trails in British Columbia, and one trail ought to go through the rapids of Harrison, and connect Douglas with a good centre like Cayoosh. But one rising town should not absorb all public attention, to the detriment of towns like Yale and Hope, and routes which "Featherstone" and others are endeavoring to discredit.

First, for the would-be facts of his letter. Gold, I am told by an authority who ought to know something about it, has never realized $17 an ounce at Cayoosh; the highest price which my informant could obtain a week ago for some of the best kind, was $16 12 1-2, sold in Victoria. This is a small item, perchance, but rather an important one in "a gold correspondent's" letter. The object of such letters is not to puff a country or particular diggings and yields, but to enable men to form an accurate estimate of its resources, and shape their course accordingly. Mr. Batterton, the Expressman, to whom I have alluded as giving accurate information, expresses a hope that in the influx which we look for, no man judging from all we know at present) will place the average yield of the gold-fields about the Canal river and Alexander at $100 per day. In English we call such expressions by a word which is rather appropriate to our statements on gold subjects—"crammers."

We have suffered enough by one puffing, misrepresenting correspondent, whose influence is more world-wide, to make those interested in the upper country deprecate such unfair conduct, to the country, miners and immigrants. Every man who wishes well to the country, must earnestly desire correct facts, while he desires all the facts that can be furnished.

I would allude, en passant, to Featherstone's opinion of the Lower Fraser. The views of some people are imaginative and cramped by turns, and this peculiarity is visible in Featherstone. He will find a large number of "respectable rowdies below Cayoosh," differing from him in their notions of "existing affairs," and more ready to endorse the sentiments of "fair field and no favor," entertained by the populace of Yale and Hope, than perhaps he is aware of, seeing he is so very remote from news. The charming picture of social happiness, quietness, and "indifference to all the world besides," which Featherstone draws of Cayoosh, is too good to be true, even to official senses. I hope it is not true, for Cayoosh is not the place I take it to be, if it is really so "very slow" as he asserts.

But let me draw your attention to a point which he deems important. In alluding to trails, I beg honestly to disclaim any rival feeling or desire to create rivalry. If "a fair field and less favor" is mentioned to a certain class, the reply is immediate—"Every place is for itself; You are creating bad feeling; Cannot do everything;" &c. The whole drift of such replies is, to deny others a larger interest and sympathy than the respondents feel themselves.

Featherstone assumes more than he can prove in favor of the great government trail by Douglas, and in sneering at Yale and the trails by the river, he does not understand the geography of British Columbia, or what "a direct route" means. He seems to settle in his own mind that the country through which the Yale and Hope trails pass, is of no importance and unrepresented by population. The mineral wealth of the country from Lytton, above Yale, to Hudson's Bar, some 10 miles below Hope, is not to be overlooked surely, great as the advantages and prospects of the Upper Country are declared to be. It was the gold extracted from between these points, that gave the country its first rush, and it was from between these points that nine-tenths of the gold was procured which was accounted for in 1859. The richness of the Upper Country, I am glad to think, is no longer a surmise but a fact; and it has advantages of agricultural and prairie land which are not so apparent on the Lower Fraser. I use the word "apparent," for very little is known about the Lower Fraser. By clearing and cultivation, (the result of population,) a land pronounced on discreditable authority, to be "barren and desolate," may yet become far more productive than it seems to be at present. The population from Lytton Bar to Hudson Bar including Yale and Hope, are sufficiently important to call attention to their number, and demand a direct communication. With New Westminster and the upper country, the Yale trail, and the Boston Bar trail from Hope, combined with the river navigation is, the natural route connecting these localities with the route west.

I desire to make every allowance for the difficulties with which the Government are surrounded, from private solicitations and public impetuosity. But unless something is said on the other side, in favor of the mineral wealth and population of the lower Fraser, I firmly believe all the revenue will be sunk in the Harrison River or the upper Lakes, and a wealthy country and good citizens, left to fish for themselves; or in other words, give, give, spend, spend, out of their own pockets in self-defence, to prevent themselves being ruined.

Notwithstanding Featherstone's remarks, I think the residents of the lower Fraser will do well to keep alive in the matter,—willing to do everything possible and right for themselves, but alive to the fact that "charity begins at home." They ought to ask for very definite proofs as to how the government will meet voluntary efforts, while they urge the duty of Government aid being diversified more than it is. There is a new trail now in course of construction, (to be shortly finished), from Lytton, striking the Brigade Trail at Hat river, and shortening the distance considerably from Yale to Hope. Through the efforts of Mr. Batterton it will be made known widely in these Colonies and at San Francisco. It will be accompanied with a table of distances on the different trails, and reliable information of places and prospects.

In this manner the mining populace and importing merchants will form their own opinion on "facts and figures" not from any "special" representations; these other lines of communication will be opened in time, I have not a doubt. The only question is will government or private interest do it in whole or in part. I am, Sir, yours obediently,

A. D. PRINGLE.

EXPLORING EXPEDITION.—That indefatigable pioneer, Major Downie, will leave on Wednesday, with a small vessel 15 tons burthen, and a company of three persons, viz:—Alexander McDonald, James Smith, and John Taylor, to explore the north end of Vancouver Island. The party will go up through Johnson Straits, visit Fort Rupert, and the country around Cape Scott. If the search in that quarter for the precious metals prove unsuccessful, they will proceed to the coast of British Columbia. It is altogether a private enterprise.

FRIENDS MEETING.—Robert Lindsey and wife, ministers of the Society of Friends, from England, intend holding a meeting for worship in the Music Hall, Victoria, on Fifth day, (Thursday) evening, the 2d of Second month, (February) at 7 o'clock; to which all are respectfully invited.

THE PANAMA ARRIVED yesterday morning from San Francisco via Portland and Olympia,—having left the former place on Jan. 19th—making the passage in 11 days. She left again at 2 P. M.

GOLD DUST.—Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped by the Pacific Jan. 24, to San Francisco, $23,296; by the Panama, yesterday, $3,700. Macdonald & Co. shipped by the Pacific $6,500.

When will the railings around the building next the Post office be pulled down? It is a nuisance to property holders on Government street—stopping improvement.

REAL ESTATE.—J. D. Carroll, Esqr., purchased last week, for $3,300, the lot at the corner of Fort and Government, measuring on the latter 24 feet, on the former 90 feet.

The collections for the Royal Hospital, made last Sunday at the Victoria District Church, amounted to $325.90.

NEW CHURCH IN VICTORIA.

In connection with the United Church of England and Ireland, and the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States.

THE GROWTH OF VICTORIA. THE WANT of seat room in Christ Church, the wide extent of the town, and the probability of a large and early increase in the population, renders necessary the immediate erection of a second Church.

In anticipation of the wants of the two Colonies, the Bishop last spring undertook the responsibility of ordering an Iron Church. This was shipped in September, and may be expected in a few weeks; and is to be placed at the disposal of the inhabitants of Victoria.

There will be seat room for 650 persons. The original expense, the freight and insurance to Victoria, and the estimated cost of erection amounting to £2,600, or $12,600. Many of the interior fittings, as Organ, Bell, Font and East Window of stained glass, are the gifts of friends.

It is proposed to raise the necessary funds by offerings and subscriptions; $4000 has been subscribed and paid. An individual has offered $500 provided five other persons will do the same; a second individual has offered $200 to meet four other offerings of like amount.

It is earnestly hoped that sympathy will not be wanting, but that many hands and hearts will combine to carry out an undertaking which has for its object the glory of God and the advancement of the moral and religious interests of this important and rising Colony of Britain.

At two preliminary meetings which have been held, the Rev. E. Cridge in the Chair, it was

Resolved:

1. That immediate steps be taken to carry out the design of erecting a second Church in the North part of the Town.

2. That a Committee be appointed, with power to add to their number.

3. That a Site Committee report upon the best situation for the Church.

4. That a canvass be commenced, and that all persons willing be invited to co-operate.

5. That subscription be paid in three instalments, during 18 months, if more convenient.

6. That the Rev. R. Dundas and Mr. R. Burnaby be requested to act as Honorary Secretaries, and Mr. Wood as Treasurer.

Subscriptions will be gladly received by the Treasurer, at the Bank of B. N. A., and by the Honorary Secretaries.

Donations in land, cartage of materials, lumber, &c., thankfully accepted.

By order of the Committee.

DISSOLUTION OF COPARTNERSHIP.

ARRIVAL OF THE PANAMA. LATEST INTELLIGENCE.

The Panama arrived yesterday morning, at Esquimalt. The principal items of news expected by her we have already published in our issues of the 26th and 28th insts. :

California.
The Forwood was to leave San Francisco on the 21st, for Mazatlan; carrying down some thirty passengers, who had started on the Emily Banning; the latter vessel having ran ashore in San Francisco harbor, on Blossom Rock.

GOING ROUND THE HORN.—The English steamer Forwood, sent out to Victoria about a year since, returns east, leaving this harbor on the 25th inst. On her passage home she will touch at Mazatlan and Valparaiso on this, and Montevideo on the other side of the continent, taking passengers and freight for these ports, and affording an opportunity for those desirous of reaching the latter place not often met with.—Times.

John Nugent, an old policeman, was buried by the Monumental Engine Company, on the 18th inst.

DAMAGE FOR NOT MARRYING.—The jury in the case of Elizabeth Hilderbrand against Nicholas Mathewson, brought to recover $10,000 damage, for breach of promise to marry, brought in a verdict of $5,000 in favor of the plaintiff. This sum, it is to be hoped, will make some amends for the spinster's blasted hopes and lacerated heart.

Three thousand tons of rock was crushed at the mill of the Oriental Mining Company, up Deer Creek, during 1859, and yielded about $60,000. The cost of quarrying, hauling and crushing the rock averaged about $13 a ton. It was mostly from the Lecompton lead, which pays from $16 to $40 a ton, and has paid its proprietors since it was opened in the spring of 1858, a neat profit of $60,000.

The Democratic State Central Committee met Jan. 18th and called a Convention to meet at Sacramento on the 29th of February to elect delegates for the Charleston Convention. The test for the primary election: "Did you vote for a majority of the candidates on the Democratic State ticket last year?"

The U. S. S. Saginaw, Commander Schenck, had started on a trial trip of a week up the northern coast. She was built at the Navy Yard Mare Island.

The grading of Mission Dolores Railroad was near completion.

The Times says there is some talk of the P. M. S. Company placing a line of steamers on the route from San Francisco to Acapulco, touching at Mazatlan, San Blas, and Manzanillo.

LETTERS TO GO OVERLAND.—The press and the people have at last, by tugging like dray horses, drawn that heavy omnibus, the Government, up to the idea that it is cheaper, nearer, surer, quicker and wiser to send letters destined for the Eastern States by the Overland Mail, than by steamer. The number of letters by this conveyance has so increased, notwithstanding the former order of the Postmaster General to send all by steamer which were not endorsed to go overland, and the press has so persistently advocated the right system, that at last the order has been extorted; and after the 23d inst. all letters will be dispatched overland, unless ordered to go by steamer. Thus the former absurd rule has been reversed, and we may hereafter be expected to report a large increase of the Overland Mail.

British North America.

By the arrival of the Panama we have provincial files to Dec. 17th.

G. B. L. Fellows, a member of the Canadian Parliament was sentenced on Dec. 3rd, to six months imprisonment in the jail of the United Counties of York and Peel and pay a fine of £200 for copying into the poll-books 347 names from the Troy directory to secure his election. T. S. Casselman and Martin Casselman were both sentenced to six months imprisonment, and the latter £100 fine besides.

Meetings among the colored population had occurred at Montreal to express sympathy for Ossawatimie Brown.

The Canadian Ocean Steamers were to touch at St. John N. B. during the winter. Col. Hanson of Vonville, St. Gregorie, died on Dec. 4th.

Sir James B. McCauley was buried on Nov. 30th, in St. James Cemetery, Toronto.

A contract has been effected between the Northwestern Express Company and Sir Geo. Simpson, President of the Hudson Bay Company, by which all the stores for the North will be sent by way of La Crosse, Wisconsin, and the Crosse Railroad. The furs of the British Company will be taken to St. Paul by dog teams, thence by express and railroad by way of La Crosse.

The Legislature of Nova Scotia is to assemble in January.

Mr. Tilley the Provincial Secretary of New Brunswick, has been lecturing at Portland, N. B., on the advantages held out by that Province to the working man. He showed from statistics that the average means of each individual rated for taxation is greater in New Brunswick than in the States.

The prospectus of a new company has been issued at London, with Mr. Gisborne's name as the projector, for the purpose of working lead and copper ores recently discovered at Conception Bay, Newfoundland.

The general election at Newfoundland, just concluded, has issued in confirming the late Ministry in office. The result was effected by the Catholic vote, which includes nearly one half the population of the Island.

The Toronto Globe says it has reason to believe that the Government will adopt the scheme for the Federation of the Canadas recommended by the late Opposition Convention.

Mr. Galt, the Inspector General of Canada, has left for England, and there is a rumor that he goes to urge on the Home Government not only a grant of money for the extension of the Grand Trunk eastward through New Brunswick, but also the federation of the whole provinces.

It is stated that troops are to be sent from Halifax to Prince Edward Island and Annapolis, two companies to the former place, which, of late years, has been without military.

The promise made by Her Majesty to the Canadian deputation was to the effect that either the Prince of Wales or Prince Albert should visit the great North American provinces next summer. Excepting a rupture with some great Power, there is every reason to believe that the promise will be fulfilled. The matter has been sufficiently discussed, and it is understood that the Prince will not only be present at the opening of the great work for which the presence of royalty was specially solicited, but that he will remain a sufficient time in Canada to become well acquainted with all its more interesting localities, and physical characteristics of the country.

SODOMY.—That notorious reprobate John Butts was yesterday committed to prison, charged with the commission of an abominable offence on the person of a little English boy, employed at the Union Hotel. He will be examined this morning.

The Philharmonic Society gave a Concert, last evening, at the new Court House, over James Bay.

"HOW TO PRESERVE THE UNION."—The Richmond Enquirer of the 5th inst., concludes an article under the above heading, as follows:

There can be no peace for Virginia and the South in the Union as long as the question of slavery is the football of political parties. Even the Harper's Ferry invasion has failed to warn the conservatives of the North of the dangerous faction that disturbs their peace as well as endangers the Union. We have been charged with exaggerating the importance of the Harper's Ferry affair for party purposes. The cause of sectional animosity must be elevated from the arena of politics, and submitted directly to the sovereign States.

State sovereignties must assemble in convention, and then and there agree upon future peace in the Union, or decide upon the most peaceable mode of dissolution. No Southern Convention, but a Convention of all the States having an equal vote should be assembled, and in that Convention of the States of the American Union the ultimatum of the South should be laid down.

Such a Convention would arouse the conservatism of the North; none but men of liberality of opinion would be delegates, for upon its deliberations the future of the Union would depend. Once convince the North that the slavery question is not a subterfuge of party, but is a real issue involving the Union, and all our rights will be immediately secured. The material advantages of the Union will weigh with the North far more than negro-philism. The Legislature of Virginia must decide for a Convention either of the South or the whole Union—the first will inevitably dissolve the Union; the latter may perpetuate it and render it safe and secure to the South.
